'Vale Traffic Woes Again Before Board

Signs indicating directions to Lowell Junction Industrial plants will be removed from the Clark-Dascomb Road intersection and efforts will be made to have trucks use alternate routes, as a result of another meeting on Ballardvale traffic problems with the selectmen Monday nights.

The selectmen admitted that they had been unable to make any progress in providing traffic relief since the original meeting on the subject in June.

Efforts have been made to make short term arrangements, such as routing traffic over Ballardvale Street in Wilmington, which the suburban town fathers have objected to.

Even if Wilmington should agree to take the traffic from Route 93 into the Lowell Junction Industrial park, thus relieving River Street, Clark Road and Vale Streets, it is doubtful that the State Department of Public Works would give approval for its use as a truck route.

Selectman Alan F. French suggested that Town Manager Austin confer particularly with the traffic department of the industrial plants involved and ask for some co-operation on their part in having truckers be aware of the dangers and hazards of the narrow, residential Ballardvale Streets.

State Rep.-Elect Gerald Cohen reported that he had discussed the matter with state DPW authorities in an effort to expedite an interchange with Route 93 to solve the problem. This, he said, was a long term solution.

The only short term solution is a volunteer effort by the industries involved.

Residents of the area were again present to reiterate the problems they face with the heavy trucking as well as auto traffic going to and from the industrial plants.

Auto and truck traffic from Gillette, GSF Corp., and other smaller firms in the junction present constant hazards, with residents of Clark Road and River Street particularly concerned.

It was suggested that the traffic be rerouted away from Clark Road, and down Dascomb Road to Andover Street. The section of Andover Street is scheduled for reconstruction and is not recommended for alternate use, Town Manager Austin reported to the selectmen.

Adding to the dangers of traffic over such streets as Clark Road, one resident pointed out that dangerous chemicals are carried to the GSF plant, which could be spilled on the roadways should an accident occur.

The problem of controlling truck traffic was discussed, with residents stating that the companies can exercise some care over their own vehicles,

All Night Parking Ban Begins

The all night winter parking ban will go into effect in Andover beginning Sunday, Dec. 1, and continue through April 1.

Cars may not be parked overnight on streets in town between the hours of 1 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Financial Aid For Doyle Land Changes

While it appears the town may proceed toward obtaining the Doyle land off High Plain Road within the town meeting approval given last March, it now appears not all the state and federal funds will be available for its purchase.

The selectmen Monday night revealed that it still is possible to receive the 50 per cent self-help funds for conservation purposes, but that the additional funds hoped for under the outdoor recreation program at the state level, would probably not be forthcoming.

The town at the annual town meeting appropriated $310,000 for acquisition of the property.

Selectman Alan F. French noted Monday night that it was his understanding that the state has now ruled that the property would not qualify for funds from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, which is a change from the original thinking of the board and the town.

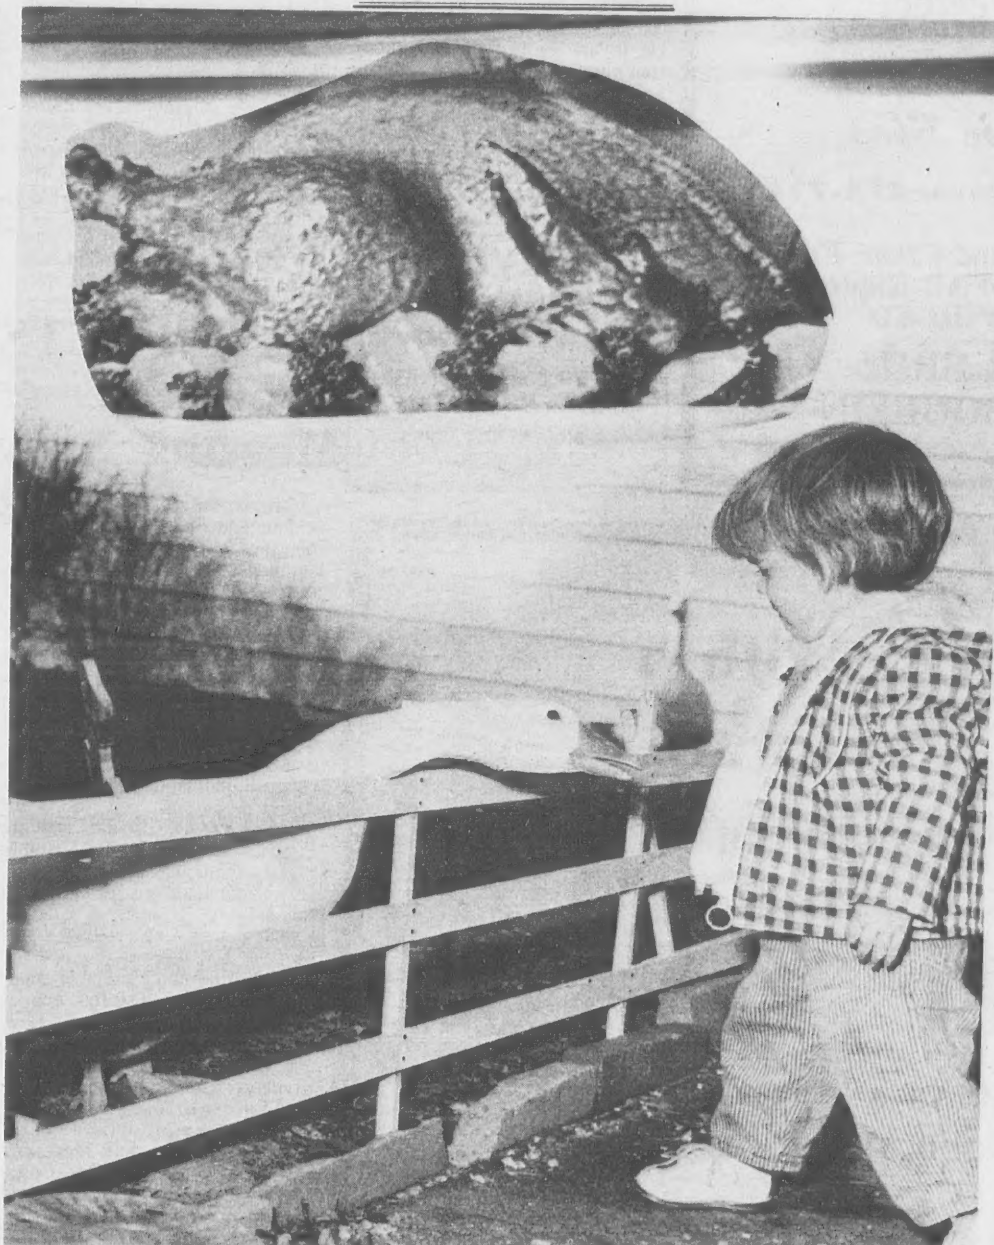

It was originally understood, French noted, that the BOR funds would be available should the site be developed for either passive or active recreation use.

What was said at town meeting when the voters were promised that the town would seek maximum funding for the Doyle land acquisition, and what state authorities are saying now are two different things, French said.

The selectman was concerned as to whether some state guidelines had been changed since March, or if the consultants engaged for the project had misinformed the town.

Assistant Town Manager Sheldon S. Cohen explained that

"My Goose Isn't Cooked"

"Look pal, Thanksgiving is better known as Turkey Day," seems to be the advisory being given by this rather robust goose to an inquiring 17-month-old David C. Corbett. The roasted turkey is offered as an indication of a pleasant holiday for both tomorrow, the goose for his freedom from being the principal ingredient in the holiday meal and David, to enjoy the traditional feast.

Anderson Chairman Of School Land Study Group

Austin E. Anderson has been named chairman of the special committee appointed to study the feasibility of the town acquiring the Sacred Heart school property in Shawsheen.

Anderson was named by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin at the meeting of the selectmen Monday night. The committee is expected to include an examination of possible Phillips Academy land and buildings available, in addition to the Sacred Heart land.

Other members of the committee named by the manager, with the approval of the selectmen, include Frederic Stott of Phillips Academy, Ralph S. Crossan, who was chairman of the Doherty-Shawsheen school renovation committee, Stanley Saba, Jr., of the planning board; Mrs. Elinor Ristuccia, Selectman George E. Heseltine, School Committee Chairman Francis Griggs, Robert Butler, Mrs. Ruth Dunbar and Willis Gray.

The committee is to look into the school building and land owned by Sacred Heart in Shawsheen, the former administrative offices of the American Woolen Company. The school closed late last summer due to shrinking enrollments and economic considerations.

Conservation and recreation interests have expressed a desire for acquisition of the

Need More Funds For Bath House

The 1974 town meeting will be asked to provide additional funds for construction of a bath house at Poms pond, due to bids on the facility being higher than anticipated.

The selectmen were informed by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin and the recreation committee Monday night that the bids for the new facility were about $24,000 over the funds provided at the 1974 town meeting.

Douglas Mitchell, chairman of the Recreation committee, informed the board that the group was astounded at the bid prices, with most of the problems stemming from rising building costs and the need to meet state regulations.

In anticipation of the construction of the new building, and according to a timetable established by the committee, the old bath house at Poms has been torn down and the area

Congressman-elect Paul Tsongas spoke to the members of the political science council at Merrimack College this past week.

He talked mainly about what he thought the main issues would be in the new 94th Congress; about money in elections; about his place on the political spectrum, how he plans to staff his district offices, and how he did his polling prior to the election.

The main issues seem to be tax relief, health, inflation.

He opposes oil depletion allowances and favors quick action on one of the health bills. With such high unemployment in his district, the Congressman-elect stated that he will direct his attention to that crucial area.

His campaign cost him something in the vicinity of $100,000 and he feels that is too much. He favors some type of legislation that will allow the federal government to help finance elections not only of the presidency which is now allowed, but for congressmen and senators also. He feels the person who opposes the incumbent should not be at a great disadvantage which is now the case.

In answer to a question on where he might line up on the political spectrum, Tsongas answered the inquiry by telling the students the type of congressmen he believes are now in tune with the current and future scene such as Congressmen Michael Harrington, Robert Drinan, and probably California Representative Phillip Burton, a liberal who was elected to congress in 1964 and a leader of the younger, progressive members of congress.

There will be three offices in the district, one in Lawrence, one in Lowell, and the third in the southern part of the district, probably in Concord. He plans to have a person who will work on day to day constituency problems in each office and one who will be responsible for economic matters.

In his Washington office there will be an administrative assistant, a legislative aide and one or two others, plus a secretarial staff. Most of the individuals will be selected from his campaign workers.

With the exception of his first poll which was conducted in June 1974, all subsequent polls were run by the members of his staff. He stated that good polling is indispensable in a political campaign. He indicated that his poll was not far off when compared with the one published by the Boston Globe.

In response to a question on his preferences for committee assignments, Tsongas said he hopes he can get on one which will help the people in his district but with such a large number of new congressmen, it will be difficult to get the assignment of one's choice.

As the only former Peace Corps volunteer to be elected to Congress he indicated it should be obvious that he had a desire to serve on the Foreign Affairs Committee.

At the moment however, Tsongas said he is looking forward to the Dec. 2, 1974 meeting of the party leaders. "That will be a very important meeting because important posts in Democratic leadership will be decided that day," said the new congressman.

MASS/PACTS Group In Meeting

Parents and students are urged to join educators at the second meeting of the MASS/PACTS Northeast Study Team on Dec. 2 at the Regional Center in North Andover. Through these study teams, MASS/PACTS will address major issues facing schools and communities. The project will develop materials to help schools and communities find ways to work together to solve problems, and to make recommendations for further statewide action.

MASS/PACTS (Massachusetts Parents, Administrators, Community, Teachers and Students), is a year-long project of the Institute of Responsive Education at Boston University designed to study and assist school/community collaboration in the Bay State. The first round of meetings in the seven state education regions attracted over 150 people, and focused on problems facing each region.

At the North Andover meeting, fifteen communities were represented, including representatives of the Gloucester Community Development Corporation and staff members of the Methuen Bilingual Education Program. This study team raised issues of lack of communication between parents and administrators and school committees, and collective bargaining procedures. The study team suggested materials they thought would be helpful in organizing effective school/community groups.

Those with ideas on how to increase effective collaboration should come to the Regional Center, 1551 Osgood St., North Andover, on Monday, Dec. 2 at 7:30 p.m. For further information contact Miriam Clasby, MASS/PACTS Co-director.

Hospital Receives Bequest

On Friday, Nov. 22, Lawrence General Hospital's President R. Ashton Smith received a check for more than $35,000 from Attorney John J. Willis, the executor of Mrs. Fanny E. Reynolds' estate.

In her will, Mrs. Reynolds, a lifelong resident of North Andover, made specific bequests - including a large plot of land that was to be used as a playground and/or athletic field for the youth of North Andover. The remainder of her estate was to be divided equally between the Stevens Memorial Library in North Andover, Massachusetts General Hospital and Lawrence General Hospital.

The check delivered by Attorney Willis to President Smith represents the local hospital's share in the bequest.

Three Named To Council

Dr. Joseph Hart, chairman of the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council, Inc. has announced the appointment of three new members to the review and comment committee.

The three are: Dr. Maurice Huckins, a general surgeon representing the Lowell area; Raymond Belanger, a consumer also representing the Lowell area; and David Bailey, a consumer representing the Haverhill-Newburyport area.

The committee now has nine members, a majority of whom are consumers, with each area of the Merrimack Valley having representation.

The committee reviews applications for certificate of need in the Merrimack Valley and comments on various aspects of the applications, including need, financial feasibility, and cost factors. The committee is also required to act on applications from local agencies for federal funding in the health field as part of their project review responsibilities.

Reports on federal funding for local projects are made to the regional office in Boston of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Comments from the Merrimack Valley Health Planning Council, Inc.

Funds For Vehicles Available

Secretary Alan Altshuler of the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction and Secretary Jack Leff of the Department of Elder Affairs announced today that they are seeking names of private nonprofit corporations who want to apply for federal assistance in purchasing vehicles to provide transportation for the elderly and handicapped.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has tentatively been allotted $465,000 to implement a program provided by federal legislation in the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964. Section 16 (b) (2) of this act specifies that grants and loans may be provided to private nonprofit corporations and associations for the specific purpose of assisting them in providing transportation services meeting the special needs of the elderly and handicapped persons for whom mass transportation services are unavailable, insufficient, or inappropriate.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has submitted draft criteria to the Urban Mass Transportation Administration for evaluation and selection of applicants to receive funds, and approval of these criteria is expected in early December. Application forms will be sent on request to private nonprofit corporations sometime in December. Forms will be due into the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction by February 1.

Secretary Altshuler warned that the funds allotted for this program are limited. Each application will be carefully evaluated by an interagency advisory committee to assure the most effective use of funds. Applicants must provide a twenty percent cash match for purchase of vehicles, and must obtain operating funds on their own.

Organizations wishing to receive application forms should write the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction, 18 Tremont Street, Boston 02108, attention Ms. Karla Karash.

Making A Final Inspection

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 27, 1974

Don Ward makes some final adjustments to the small lights which decorate Andover's trees for the Christmas season, while Paul Gymrek, chairman of the Andover Downtown Merchants group of the Andover Chamber of Commerce makes an inspection of the holiday decorations. The lights are to be turned on tonight.

Meeting Dates Are Established

Dates for the annual town meeting were established by the selectmen this week.

The annual town election will be Monday, March 3, with the town meeting to begin Monday, March 31 at Memorial Auditorium of East Junior High school.

The warrant for the annual town meeting will open on Dec. 4 and close on Jan. 10 at 4 p.m.

Town boards and committees wishing to place articles in the warrant have been invited to meet with the selectmen on Dec. 23, to explain the articles and allow determination if the board will include them in the warrant without petition.

but that so-called gypsy truckers making deliveries can not be controlled.

Atty. Philip Coppola of Woburn Street, added to the discussion of the problem, asking that the signs be removed from the post at the corner of Clark and Dascomb Roads, which may be of some assistance in providing relief.

He noted that in June, only one sign, Gillette, was posted, now there are three firms with directional signs at the corner.

As for the agreements with Wilmington, Coppola asked if there had been a firm negative response, or was there some bargaining points.

The selectmen responded that they had talked with Wilmington and had received refusal in writing from the neighboring officials. As for supplying Wilmington with water, which could be a bargaining point, the selectmen said they have received requests from Wilmington along with other communities to be served with water from Andover's new treatment plant.

Further suggestion that the town close Clark Road and force use of Andover Street via Dascomb Road, by Richard St. Amand, brought the response that such is under consideration, but no action has been taken.

All of the selectmen admitted that it has been a frustrating experience attempting to solve the problem, and getting little assistance from state sources.

As an initial step toward attempting some solution it was finally agreed that the directional signs to the plant would come down and the manager would discuss the problem further with the traffic officials at the Lowell Junction plants.

acreage which includes the ball fields and what formerly was a skating rink, maintained by the school and used by the town in past years.

There is also interest in preserving the mall area, with the Valley Forge building.

Also to be considered is the possibility of the building being used for municipal facilities. Supt. of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert, who has made a preliminary inspection of the building reports it to be structurally sound and with minor renovation could solve some school space needs.

In addition to the Sacred Heart property, the committee is expected to look into some possible availability of land and buildings within the Phillips Academy complex.

It was revealed a week ago that some property within the Abbot Academy campus may be available, since the merged Phillips and Abbot Academies will eventually have a reduction in enrollment to 925, making some of the property excess.

Town Manager Austin said Monday night that the encompassing of the Phillips property within the scope of the Sacred Heart study will hinge on the willingness of the academy to discuss the matter of its future planning.

In other appointments made by the manager on Monday, six members were appointed to the Council on Aging. Appointed were Leslie Bartow, Florence McGrath, Edith St. Jean, Joseph Doherty, Jr., Douglas Mitchell and Don P. Scott.

Mrs. George LeMaitre, 9 Sunset Rock Road, was appointed a trustee of Memorial Hall Library to fill the term of Dr. Fred G. Arragg, who resigned earlier this year. The term is through 1978.

Mrs. Norma Gammon was named chairman of the town's Bicentennial Committee, with other members of the group to be named at a later date.

Mrs. Doris Hudgins, of the Andover Haven, was appointed Andover's representative on the Merrimack Valley Home Care Corporation, a non-profit community organization designed to assist senior citizens. Joining the group was approved at the October town meeting.

Sgt. James Johnson of the Andover Police department was appointed Civil Defense director for the time, filling the vacancy created by the resignation several months ago of Winston Briggs.

Commuters Strive Toward $6000 Goal

The Andover Rail Committee was "hanging in there" this week, with more than $4700 in pledges toward their goal to keep the MBTA stopping here at least through the spring town meeting.

The riders must come up with $6,000 by Dec. 5, and with a little more than a week to go, co-treasurer Mervyn Miller said they were "very optimistic."

The group sprang into action two weeks ago when the MBTA announced it would stop the Andover train Nov. 15. A handful of riders put $500 on the line to keep the train stopping here another week.

MBTA executive David Gunn then indicated that if the group could come up with some $6000 in operating expenses by Dec. 5, he would keep the train running through town meeting.

The board of selectmen have agreed to put the question of town support of the train back on the ballot in the spring. It was the October meeting that narrowly defeated an MBTA meeting.

The selectmen were in general agreement that the matter would have to be referred back to the town meeting for the additional funds. It is felt that, should the session approve the additional funding, the building can be available in time for next summer use.

Alternative plans will be available as well, since there is no building there at all now.

The selectmen suggested that the committee look into the possibility of having a private group build the structure and lease it to the town, possibly resulting in a lower cost for both construction and cost to the community.

The square foot figure for the building, according to the bids received is $35, which the selectmen and Mitchell felt exorbitant for a bath house facility.

Doyle Land Money Altered

the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has established criteria for projects and that the Doyle property would have a low priority according to the guidelines.

Cohen said that property such as Sacred Heart school would have a higher priority should that area be subject of application for state BOR funds, since it is in close proximity to intersecting state highways as well as its location in a moderate income area.

The Doyle land is set off from major highways and is located within what is considered middle income area, Cohen noted.

The assistant manager said that the information received from the consultants was not consistent with what the state bureau has said.

What the town had hoped to obtain was 75 per cent funding for acquisition and development of the area. The 50 per cent would come from the self-help program administered under conservation funding and an additional 25 per cent from the BOR.

Selectman Edmund Sullivan, Jr., said that it was his understanding that the acquisition of the land still fell within the intent of the town meeting, in that it was designed to allow the town to control the land and keep it from residential development.

Without the BOR funds, the question arose as to who would administer the 75 acres to be subsidy, thereby throwing the rail commuters off track.

The funds got a boost from inclement weather Tuesday, as the slick roads brought more commuters back to rail. The riders were approached, en transit, by members of the fund raising committee.

Meanwhile, the real estate community has been making contributions by individual firms and individual realtors, and the business merchants are also being approached for pledges.

Riders, rail buffs, and individual citizens may still make their contributions by contacting either co-treasurers Miller and John S. Sullivan, or the assistant treasurers. They include Kenneth Barnhill, Cynthia Hartnett, Joseph Sullivan, Saul J. Goldberg, Vahey Gulzian, Glen Cunningham, Warren Lewis, Nancy Haggerty, William Murphy and George Cleveland. North Andover's representative is David Floren.

acquired, should only the self-help funds be available.

It was generally agreed among the board members that the conservation funds should be sought and that the administration of the area be determined.

Basically, if the self-help funds are provided, the area comes under conservation commission jurisdiction.

The selectmen would like to have the recreation commission involved in the project.

Selectmen French said there is a problem of the definition of recreation, noting that much of the town's conservation land, and the AVIS land is recreation oriented, being used for hiking, picnicking, Boy Scout camping, nature study, etc.

It was decided that the town would apply for the self-help funds but that joint administration of the area should be determined before seeking the funds.

Joseph Monan of the Conservation Commission asked the selectmen to submit the application soon, since several communities in the state are seeking the funds. He said Andover was tenth in the receipt of funds in the past and suggested that the application should be filed soon.

Chairman Milton Greenberg said that it was his opinion that the establishment of the administration of the property should be determined first.

Academy Orchestra In Concert On Dec. 6

A concert by the Phillips Academy Chamber Orchestra, conducted by William Schneider, will be held in Davis Hall on Friday, Dec. 6 at 7 p.m. Davis Hall is located in the Abbot Cluster of Phillips Academy on School St., Andover.

The program will consist of The Carnival of Animals by Camille Saint-Saens, Sinfonia in D by Stamitz and the first movement of Antonio Vivaldi's Concerto in A minor for two violins. Two student soloists will be included in the program.

The principal work, The Carnival of Animals, features Kim Patton '75 and Lee Neumann '76 as duo-pianists. The humorous poetry which introduces each animal, written by Ogden Nash, will be read by Peter Sellars, '75. The orchestra will also play the Stamitz Sinfonia in D, and Sam Landsberger '76, concert-master and Peter Kao '75, principal second violinist, will be the soloists in the Vivaldi Concerto.

Tom Chapin '75, first saxophonist in the Northeast District band and saxophonist in the Massachusetts Youth Wind Ensemble will perform the Eccles Sonata on the saxophone. Ann Ehrling '76, first flute in the district band will perform the Bach Sonata in B minor. Both will be accompanied by Carolyn Skelton, a faculty member at Phillips Academy.

This will be a short program and everyone is cordially invited. There is no admission charge. Children are welcome to come and sit on the floor close to the orchestra. The program is one that should appeal to the entire family.

Membership to this orchestra is open to any young person in the area. An informal private audition is required. Please call 475-3582 for details.

CHRISTMAS

Tonight, on Thanksgiving Eve, Andover's downtown area will gleam with hundreds of small white lights to herald the coming of our most universally observed birthday. The lighting is intentionally muted and accented by traditional green wreaths in the old fashion manner. We hope all Andover enjoys this year's Christmas lights and the spirit in which we present them.

Barrington Boys' Choir In Concert

North East Cultural Arts Center, Inc., will present a concert by the Barrington Boys' Choir and Men's Glee Club in Denworth Hall, Bradford College, at 8 p.m. on Dec. 13.

The Barrington Boys' Choir with voices of 20 ten to twelve year olds, under the direction of Guy Vance Carpenter, has received numerous accolades in its 18 years of history.

It has repeatedly been named the best foreign choir in competition at the International Musical Eistedfodd in Llangollen, Wales and is one of the top touring boys' choirs of the nation.

The group has toured Europe four times, singing in Westminster Abbey, Frankfurt, Vienna, Salzburg. They have sung with the Metropolitan Opera in five operas. They have cut several albums, made countless TV appearances and given hundreds of concerts throughout the United States.

The choir's diverse repertoire includes a capella and accompanied tunes ranging from operatic, classical and religious to folk, novelty and international works, sung in whatever language is required.

Earlier in the day the Boys' Choir will give a short program and period of instruction to public and private Junior High and High School glee clubs and music instructors from Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire at 12:15 in the Haverhill High School Auditorium.

Tickets are available at the office of the Merrimack Valley Council on Arts and Humanities, City Hall, Room 303, Hunkins Jewelers, Haverhill Music Center and Mrs. R. Ashton Smith, North Andover.

Annual Meeting At Ipswich

Frank H. Tuttle of Wilmington, president of the Ipswich River Audubon Club, will present the program at the club's annual meeting to be held Monday, December 2 in the Barn at the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary, Perkins Row, Topsfield, at 7:45 p.m.

Mr. Tuttle has a large collection of pressed ferns and many colored slides of native wild flowers. The subject of his program will be "Native Ferns and Wild Flowers." All are welcome to attend; there is a small admission fee and refreshments are served after the program.

This program replaces the talk by Peter Alden on "Wildlife in South America" originally scheduled for the December meeting.

Realist Paintings On View

Works reflecting Trends in Contemporary Realist Painting will be on view at the Museum of Fine Arts, Dec. 5 through March 31.

With the dominance of abstraction in the '60s, representational painting has been more or less neglected. The Boston Museum's exhibition will focus on the recent interest in realist painting as an alternative to abstraction.

Six painters have been chosen because of the quality of their work as well as the divergent trends which they represent: Neil Welliver, Richard Estes, Fairfield Porter, Gabriel Laderman, William Beckman and Lenart Anderson.

Their works, seen in the MFA for the first time, represent a variety of styles -- the exacting sharp focus realism of Estes, the traditional Flemish techniques of Beckman, and the looser brushwork of Porter and Welliver. Each brings a contemporary and personal vision to such traditional subjects as nudes, still lifes, urban and rural landscapes.

This is the first of a series of contemporary realist exhibitions planned for the Boston Museum.

8 In Study Program Abroad

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 27, 1974

Two young people from Andover are among the 48 students studying in Germany and Austria this year under an International Studies Program sponsored by Central College, Pella, Iowa in these two countries.

They are Ruth Warwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Warwick, 23 Greenwood Road, and Geoffry Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alanson P. Stevens, 11 School Street.

Stevens is a student at Phillips Academy. Miss Warwick attends Drew University in Madison, N.J.

Offering a total of 45 semester hours of college credit in three semesters, the Vienna program begins in July and runs a full year. The summer semester is designed to provide intensive language training which is offered at branches of the Goethe Institute in both northern Germany and southern Bavaria.

In late October, the group moves to Vienna, for the fall semester where students will take special lecture courses at the 600-year-old University of Vienna, traditionally the center of German culture and learning.

Central College is a four-year liberal arts college offering a broad program of cultural training. Affiliated with the Reformed Church in America, the home campus is in Pella, Iowa, with branch campuses in Austria, England, France, Spain and Mexico.

Treating Dad For Thanksgiving

A special program conducted by the second graders at the West Elementary school Monday, found the youngsters serving Thanksgiving dinner to the parents. Here, Peter and Ann Larsen, help dad, Dr. Larry Larsen with his dinner, although we're not sure who is making the most of the festive offering. The youngsters, with the assistance of teachers, planned and prepared the meal as part of their study of the meaning of Thanksgiving.

Floor Hockey Tournament Scheduled

The first Community - wide event to be conducted at the Andover-North Andover YMCA building will be "Holidays Floor Hockey Tournaments" for boys and girls in grades 1-3. Open to residents of Andover and North Andover only, the single elimination tournaments will be conducted on the new YMCA gym floors with all equipment supplied. A tournament for girls and a tournament for boys will be conducted simultaneously with awards for the first place team members in each. Play will start on Saturday, Dec. 14, under YMCA Physical Directors

Walter J. Kimball, Sr., and Janet R. Mead.

Entry blanks are available at Dana's Sport Shop in Andover and Finneran's Drug Store in North Andover; also at any one of the three Andover-North Andover YMCA buildings. Entries must be submitted to the YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover together with the entry fee by Dec. 7. This is a Community program, YMCA membership is not required.

Prepping Winter Program

Preparations are being made for the Recreation/Community Schools Department 1975 Winter Program. The ten week programs have grown tremendously and the department is continually looking for people to teach in order to keep up with the demand for new and different classes. If you have a hobby or a skill which you would like to share with the community by teaching a course in that field, please contact the Recreation/Community Schools Department.

At present the Department is looking for people to assist in High School Equivalency. Instructors are also needed for various cooking and physical education courses. The department is also looking for supervisors for adult and youth recreation programs.

Brunelle Graduates

Navy Fireman Apprentice Margo D. Brunelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Stiner of 120 Edgelawn Ave., North Andover, graduated from recruit training for women at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla. She is scheduled to report to Interior Communications Electrician A. School, Coronado, Calif.

The training included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

Bantams To Conduct Canvass For Support

The Andover Bantam 'A' traveling hockey team will be conducting a door-to-door canvass of the town the weekend of December 7 and 8. The annual membership drive is to help raise funds for the club's February vacation trip to Canada, where they play a five-game hockey series and also visit numerous historical sites in both Toronto and Oshawa, Ontario.

The team will begin its schedule later next month, hoping to improve upon last year's 19-9-2 record.

Can't See The Birds For The Wolves

Persecuted for centuries as a dangerous predator, the wolf has recently come to be viewed as a valuable and highly interesting animal with the most complex social structure of any mammal except for man. A special program on this subject has been scheduled as part of the Audubon Wildlife Film series for Thursday, Dec. 5, at 8 p.m. at the Hamilton-Wenham Regional High School (on Bay Road, Route 1A, in Hamilton).

The film-lecture, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?", will be presented by Dr. Charles J. Berger and Farley, one of two Alaskan tundra wolves kept for behavioral research on his farm in Vermont. Dr. Berger is a veterinarian and member of the Board of the North American Predatory Animal Center who has studied and lectured on wild animals and exotic species for ten years. His work on wolves was recently described in an article in Yankee magazine.

The program is sponsored by Massachusetts Audubon Society's Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary and tickets will be available at the door or at the Sanctuary office on Perkins Row in Topsfield, which is open Tuesday through Friday.

Seniors Begin Season

The West Parish Senior Division Boys Basketball Team coached by Frank Monette are again competing in the Lawrence Jewish Community Center seventh and eighth grade Grammar League. West Parish is the 1974 defending champions as they compiled a (15-2) record last season.

There are eight teams in the division this year. St. Mary's from Lawrence who were runnerups last year to West Parish, St. Theresa's from Methuen who placed third a year ago, St. Joseph's from Lowell, Sacred Hart from Lawrence, Lowell, The Lawrence J.C.C. Team and the North Suburban (Y) from Woburn.

Coach Monette feels the going will be tougher this year as the competition looks strong.

In the opening game this season, West Parish squeaked by a tough St. Mary's team 36-34 as Tom Curtin scored with 5 seconds remaining in the game to ice it for the defending champs. Jim Arnold was the big man coming down with numerous rebounds and high game scorer for both teams with 16 points. Tom Curtin besides scoring the winning basket also chipped in with 6 points. Bill Hall tossed in 6 points from his forward position and Jeff Rosen banked in 4 points on fast breaks besides handing out some pretty assists. Peter Newton and Bobby Meier each popped in 2 points to round out the scoring. Peguero and Martineau each had 10 points for St. Mary's.

In West Parish's second game West won by forfeit over the Lawrence J.C.C. Team leaving West's record at 2-0 this season.

On Field Hockey Team

Marleah Laurie Ramsdell, a Brown University freshman from Andover, was a member of Brown's 1974 field hockey team which recently ended the fall season with a 7-4-2 record. The team also went undefeated in the northeastern college tournament held Nov. 2 and 3 in Andover.

Marleah is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Ramsdell of 70 Holt Road, Andover.

McGuirk On Duty

Marine First Sergeant James R. McGuirk, whose wife Joanna is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. McNulty of 200 Elm St., Andover, recently reported for duty with the 3d Marine Division at the U.S. Marine Corps Base on Okinawa.

Knights Ready For Pentucket

THE TOWNSMAN, NOVEMBER 27, 1974

By Bill Lafond

North Andover's high riding Scarlet Knights will be ready when they clash at West Newbury Thursday morning in their encounter with Thanksgiving rival Pentucket. The kick-off is scheduled for 10 a.m.

The red and black take a 4-5 record into the game, while the Sachems come on to the field with a 5-4 clip. The Knights opened up with a non-league victory over Methuen 14-8, but then lost their first four Cape Ann games to Lynnfield, 7-0, North Reading 15-12, Amesbury 25-6 and Newburyport 12-0. They were victorious the next three in a row, Masconomet 21-7, Ipswich 6-0 and Triton 21-0, before losing a heart-breaker to Hamilton-Wenham 8-6. Pentucket, on the other hand, lost their non-league opener to Andover 35-8, but then came on and won their first five Cape games. The Sachems defeated Newburyport 24-14, Ipswich 6-0, Masconomet 29-7, North Reading 20-6, and Triton 40-20 before losing their last three straight to Hamilton-Wenham 14-7, Lynnfield 37-21 and Amesbury 23-0.

This game should be the best matchup in the Greater Lawrence area come Thanksgiving morning as both teams are pretty even. Coach Tom Flaherty's boys, whose club runs out of the wing T and goes 5-3 on defense, has mastered a fine offense this season, piling up 155 points, but Junior tailback Kevin McCoy and Senior tight-end Todd McLaren are on the injured list. McCoy and McLaren have been two main forces on the Sachems offense with their fine running and pass receiving. Also, Allan Dunn, a defensive tackle for the Sachems will not see any action.

Coach Dan Rorke, whose club runs out of the I and T formations, plans nothing different in stopping Pentucket. He knows that he will have to stop Bob Carey's passing and Jim Lavalley's running. He also said that Calvin Gormley and David Siegal are a couple of fine tackles, and they will have to be contained.

The Scarlet Knights defense has been the main ingredient in their success this season. They have held the opposition to 82 points and is led by the front four of Tom Donovan and Scott Kelly at Tackles and ends Mike Chory and Mike Heavey. Fran Murphy, John McManus, Drew Donahue,

Defensive Starters

Girls' Hoop Program To Begin

The Recreation/Community Schools 4-6 grade Girls' Basketball program will begin on Tuesday, Dec. 3.

The first week will include a comprehensive basketball clinic on Tuesday evening and practice scrimaging Wednesday evening. All girls who have signed up for the league are expected to come to these pre-tournament sessions. The clinic on Tuesday will be held at Sanborn and practice on Wednesday will be held at Bancroft. The sessions will be from 6:30 - 8:30 p.m. both evenings.

Future weeks of play will be limited to either Tuesday or Wednesday depending on team schedules.

The department is still looking for volunteer timers and scorers to assist in the league. Please contact the Recreation/Community Schools Department if you can possibly help out.

Sweetser, McCarthy Teammates

Mark Sweetser and Bob McCarthy, teammates at Andover High last fall, both played for the Dartmouth freshman football team this fall.

The Pea Green finished with a 4-2 record, including wins over Harvard and Yale.

McCarthy was a starting fullback the first two games before he suffered a separated shoulder that sidelined him the rest of the season. He gained 41 yards in 17 carries.

Sweetser handled the punting duties for the Pea Green and averaged close to 30 yards a kick. His high kicks consistently kept the opposition from long punt returns.

Sweetser was selected to the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune All-Star team last fall, while McCarthy won the sportsmanship award. Both started in the backfield for Andover's Merrimack Valley League champions.

Sweetser is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweetser of 40 Wild Rose Drive in Andover while McCarthy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McCarthy of 65 Lovejoy Road in Andover.

Hat Trick Club Meets Wednesday

The Hat Trick Club, a group of people interested in supporting the Andover High School varsity hockey team, is holding its fall meeting Wednesday, Dec. 4 at the Bay State Bank Building at 8 p.m.

The highlight of the meeting will be the appearance of Dick Valle, the team's coach, outlining plans and prospects for the upcoming season.

Anyone interested in Andover High School hockey is welcome to attend.

AHS Girls Place High In Meet

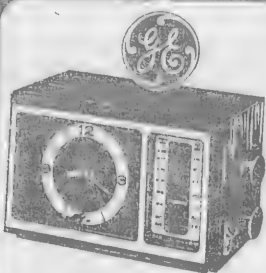

AHS Girls Swim Team members scored high in Mass. State Girls Interscholastic Swimming and Diving Championships.

The Medley Relay team of Carol Belbin, who also placed 12th in the 100 yard butterfly (1:09), Ann Wright, Bobbi Wright and Colleen Dowd placed eighth in the 200 Medley Relay. Colleen also added to the team score with a seventh in the 100 yard breaststroke, with a time of 1:17.3. She then placed ninth in the 200 Individual Medley with a time of 2:28.

This is the first year that AHS has had a representative team in the Girls Interscholastic Championships.

In 1972, the median income of female-headed families was $5,400, compared with $12,070 for husband-wife families, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

Warrior Hopes High In Finale

While thoughts of another trip to the schoolboy Super Bowl may be on the minds of the Andover High football team, and their fans, the Golden Warriors still have another regular season game to play and it doesn't expect to be any pushover.

While Lawrence Central Catholic does not bring an impressive season record into the Thursday morning game at Eugene V. Lovely field, the visitors have provided strong opposition for Andover in the series initiated a few years ago.

The Warriors are carrying an undefeated season record and a streak of 26 regular season games into the 10 a.m. kickoff on Thursday.

Andover should be at least two touchdown favorites for this one, but, as is the case in any Thanksgiving schoolboy football game, anything can happen and the Warriors are in a precarious position.

Having an undefeated record, makes them a prime target, and it becomes an easy task for an opposing coach to get his team up for this one.

Too, weather and field conditions could have an effect on the holiday. While the weather is expected to improve by Thanksgiving morning the snow of Monday night and Tuesday could have an effect on field conditions.

To the Warrior credit, they have been tested throughout the season by the best the Merrimack Valley Conference has had to offer and come out on top.

They have had a few scares along the way, but when one offensive system didn't click, such as the awesome aerial attack, then the Warriors successfully went to the ground.

Defensively, the Andover team has also met the test when called upon, halting drives through interceptions, forcing fumbles and in general, keeping the opponents from the goal line.

Jeff Winters will start at quarterback, and when tested, has proven to be a two-way performer.

His aerial game has been a prime offensive weapon during the season, with his prime target Glenn Verrette. Winters, when unable to move his club through the air, has ripped off some substantial yardage himself on the ground and compiled good scoring totals.

Among other scoring threats are Steve and John Fabiani, Gerry Stabile and Craig Koselow.

Injuries have hit T.J. Stamas and Bill Alexander and their status for Thursday's game is in question.

The Warriors will have the best record in the Greater Lawrence area going into the game and have clinched the Merrimack Valley conference crown for the second year in a row.

Central Catholic, bringing in a 2-7 record, has always played well against Andover on Thanksgiving day. A year ago, as the Warriors were aiming for the Super Bowl berth, as they are again this season, Andover struggled to come out with a 21-14 win over the Lawrence team.

Against common foes, Central edged both Methuen and Lawrence in their only wins, while Andover took both in camp, Methuen with ease and Lawrence despite some early difficulties.

For The Defense

Junior Division Registers

The Junior Division of the Andover Church Basketball league for boys eight and nine years of age, will begin Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 6 p.m. at East Junior High school gymnasium.

Any boy eight or nine, who will not be ten years old by Jan. 1, 1975, is eligible to participate in the junior division.

Parents who would like their sons to join are requested to be at the East Junior High gym to complete registration forms and submit the $5 participation fee.

The first few weeks will involve scrimmage games with regular season play to commence thereafter.

Any boy not on a team will be assigned Dec. 3.

Knights

Willie Morgan, Mike DeParis, Bill McMahon and Joe Terranova, round out the defensive eleven. Terranova takes the place of Tom Enright at the short-line backer position, as Enright is on the injured list with a fractured wrist.

Greg Edwards, the leading scorer for the Knights with 44 points, is also out of action. He will be replaced for the second straight game by Freshman Dan Brucato, at 5'11", 175 pounds, who has had four touchdowns this season.

Coach Tom Flaherty stated, "There has been an awful lot of improvement over there in North Andover, and it should be an evenly matched game. The big thing for us this year was that we got off to a good start in the league, winning five straight after the non-league loss to Andover. Three of our top players are also on the injured list with Allan Dunn, Todd McLaren and Kevin McCoy."

Pentucket, tri-state champions in the Cape Ann League last season along with Newburyport, and Lynnfield, had its work cut out for them at the start of the year as they had lost 9 offensive starters and 6 defensive to graduation. The mainstays on offense Ken Gosselin, Todd McLaren, Kevin McCoy, Barry Mansell and Dick Scher, plus on defense Jeff Lothrop, Sid Sibley, Dana Moody and Tim Lavalley, have done fine jobs to keep up the Sachems winning ways.

The Sachems have lost three in a row and this game will be very important to them. If they lose they will not have a winning season.

The Knights, on the other hand, would even their record at 5-5 with a victory. If they lose they would be going down to their sixth defeat.

This rivalry started three years ago when North Andover moved in to the Cape Ann League and the Knights started with a victory 21-13. For the last two years Pentucket has been the victor. In 1972, 16-0 and in 1973, 47-7.

It should be a good encounter come Thanksgiving morning at West Newbury.

Knight Side-lights: North Andover hasn't won on Thanksgiving Day since 1957 when they defeated Andover 21-0. They did win in 1971, but it was a Saturday game when they beat Pentucket. . . The other Cape games Thanksgiving morning will be North Reading at Lynnfield, Ipswich at Triton, and Newburyport at Amesbury. This could be the last Thanksgiving game with Pentucket as there is speculation that the Cape Ann League will change the format so that it will be a close area rivalry like Ipswich - Hamilton, Pentucket - Triton, and possibly Masconomet - North Andover. This is only speculation.

In Saturday's game Masconomet defeated Hamilton-Wenham 23-12. . . Basketball, hockey and wrestling start Monday as the winter season begins. . . See ya next week.

with a strong 8-2 record, while the Sachem Frosh were 9-1.

The scoring started in the waning moments of the first quarter, when Lyle Legacy crashed in from 1 yard out. Quarterback Tom Grant, went on a keeper for the two-point conversion, and it was 8-0 at the end of the first quarter. Halfway through the second quarter Kevin Callagy hit Jim Addonigio with a 7 yard scoring strike and the rush failed for the extras. At halftime it was an 8-6 game in favor of Pentucket.

The Sachem Frosh struck blood early in the third frame when Don Sheldon got running room and went 57 yards up the middle for the score. The rush failed on the conversion and it was 14-6.

Late third quarter scores by Tom Grant and Don Sheldon sewed it up for Pentucket. An early fourth quarter score by Callagy from 1 yard out and his pass to Addonigio for the two points, ended the scoring in this shortened game because of darkness. The final score was 28-14 and the frosh ended a fine season with a record of 8-2, their only other defeat at the hands of undefeated Ipswich 12-6. They defeated Methuen 16-6, Lynnfield 36-8, North Reading 26-8, Amesbury 20-0, Newburyport 28-20, Masconomet 28-8, before losing to Ipswich. They then won over Triton 20-6 and Hamilton-Wenham 46-8.

The Freshmen were under the fine coaching of Jim O'Neill, John Curtis, Jerry Marchegiani and Mike Carnevale. There is a lot of talent on the upswing from this team and the Cape Ann League will be aware of this in the next two to three years.

Dudes, No-names Win Men's League Opener

Opening night of the Andover Men's Basketball League last Thursday, saw this year's entries looking sharp as all engaged in tough first games battles. In the 19-32 year old division, the No-names and Dudes each won in close games while the Drivers coasted to their victory.

The No-names got a big 12 points from Pete Lafond as they edged the Hornets 33-30. Also helping with the scoring was Dave Leach and Steve Curtin each tossing in 8 points. The Hornets kept the game close all the way with 7 point outputs from Sam Washburn and Dick Corry while Lew Jones contributed 6.

A tight ball game throughout, the Dudes led the Panthers 57-56 at the final buzzer. Four players in double figures as the Dudes won were Jim Lamy, 14, John Ostrowski, 13, Tucker 11 and Pat Emery 10. The Panthers got good games from Allan Kenney with 15 points followed by Dan Shlakis' 12 and Vin Doherty's 11.

Leading throughout the game, the Drivers coasted to a 54-41 win over Doherty's. Pacing the Drivers high scoring attack was John Bovenzi with 14 points trailed by Swanson's 10 and 8 points each from Jim Coleman and Pete Mullet.

In the Over 33 division, Embassy, Warriors and Sweepers all posted first night wins.

New to the division this year, the Embassy had little trouble with the Strobes as they eased to a 61-36 victory. Don Strong led all Embassy scorers with 18 points followed by sharpshooters Wally Gardner and Frank Morris at 14 apiece. The Strobes got good performances from Bob MacPherson, 14 points, and Frank Griggs, 7 points.

The Warriors - Pickups contest saw Dean with 19 and Lee with 17 lead the victorious Warriors in an easy 52-32 win. Dick Swift also contributed 8 points in the triumph. The Pickups, hurt by lack of a bench, were forced to play their 5 starters the whole game. Bob Cratty and Elliot Bolan tossed in 14 and 12 points respectively for the losers. Subscribe to the TOWNSMAN

Doherty Faces

West Parish

Chris Doherty pumped through 20 points to power the West Parish intermediate basketball team to its second straight lopsided victory in the Lawrence J.C. Biddy League this week, a romp over the Jewish Community Center quintet.

The triumph boosted West Parish's record to 2-0 and enabled it to remain tied for first place.

Ted Kelley chipped in 7 points for West, while Mike Sherman added 5 points, Dick Kelley 4 points and Tim Plass 4 points.

The outcome was never in doubt, as West jumped to a 10-0 first quarter lead and increased its advantage to 17-1 by half time.

Tim Plass, although limited somewhat by a leg injury, still managed to block six shots and rebound numerous rebounds.

Ted Kelley helped out clearing the boards, while both Chris Doherty and Mike Sherman did some fine defensive ball-hawking and handed out a number of assists.

Doherty has now hooped 27 points in two games, while Ted Kelley has 15 and Plass 10.

The various West Parish intermediate teams have a busy two weeks ahead.

Next Sunday in J.C.C. action West will lock horns with a tough Theresa's team, which battled from behind this week to edge Ann's 13-12 in league play.

On Monday a pair of West Parish teams will open their Andover Church Basketball League seasons, with four-time defending champs West 'A' facing St. Augustine 'C' and West 'B' meeting Ballard Vale United.

Non-league games listed include one with St. Augustine's of Lawrence, and a doubleheader with the North Suburban YMCA of Burlington and Woburn.

'Jumping' Geographical Hurdles

By Linda S. Corbett

High jumping and the baroque flute may seem worlds apart, yet they have one blue-jeaned, spirited, 17-year-old in common, right here in Andover.

In fact, Ingrid Franze is doing some rather successful country-bridging too, as she spends this year as an American Field Service student from Austria, at Andover High.

Ingrid, who earlier tried girls' gymnastics, can now be found most days after school working out with the Phillips Academy track team at her first love - high jumping.

"I think," she says, "sports should be fun."

Back in her native Salzburg, she competed in track, gymnastics and swimming with a city-wide team.

She also played the baroque flute in the city-wide "Little Orchestra," and "plays the piano a little" as well.

Ingrid admits to knowing little about popular and rock music, preferring the "old and good" fellows like Mozart and Beethoven who, after all, once lived right there in her home town.

"I don't care about the new ones over there," she says of the recording stars most of her high school peers are in tune with. "And I don't care about them here."

While AFS students often get credit for the year they spend abroad, Ingrid may not. Her experience here will not automatically be honored by the private Catholic school she attends at home, and she will advance only if she passes 14 exams in the 14 subjects she would be taking there now.

School in Salzburg differs in other respects too. Teachers change classrooms, but the students rarely do. They have classes in each subject three times a week, not daily, and they also go to school on Saturday, a practice which Ingrid admits is not all that bad.

Here she is studying psychology, French, English, Spanish and oceanography - the only one that's taxing her very hard because, after all, Austria is a land-locked country.

She readily admits that she doesn't like to study, but she's class at home, too in her class at home.

She already speaks German, English and French, and has several years of Latin under her belt. She decided to take up Spanish here, but there still are some other languages she'd eventually like to learn.

Ingrid thinks she'd someday like to be a doctor, and would like to start college in Innsbruck. College admission is a lot simpler process in Austria than it is here, she explains.

"I just write my name down and go to the next class." There is also no cost.

AFS tries to "match up" exchange students with their American families, and Ingrid's is very similar - right down to her two fathers' occupations.

Ingrid is staying with the James Cowdery family, 32 Morton Street. Her American father, an engineer, happened to have been in Salzburg during World War II, and insists that's the only place in Europe he's always wanted to take his wife back to.

Ingrid's Cowdery siblings include Brothers Jim, 21, and John, 16, and Sisters Marjory, 24, and Martha 14.

In her real family are two brothers, Ferdinand, 12, and Reinhard, 10, and one sister, Herlinde, 14. Her grandparents also live with them in their 13-room house. Her father, a mechanical engineer, has his own small factory.

So far in her stay in Andover, Ingrid has been to Sturbridge, apple-picking, sailing, mountain-climbing, camping, and to the Topfield Fair to see American Indians.

She's looking forward to trying New England skiing and while she claims she's "not that good," she says she can get down about any slope.

She's also undaunted by tales of long lines here, claiming they have the same problems in Austria. "There are Americans and Germans all around you in line," she says.

Salzburg, she goes on, is very picturesque, with its mountains and castles and all, and it tickles her that Americans think something is "really old if it was built before 1800."

You can look at a castle," she says, "and know that a thousand years ago someone slept there."

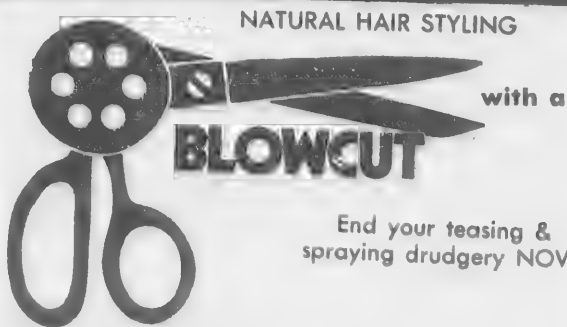

The cathedral, the most familiar symbol of Salzburg, is 1200 years old.

Electric Co. Allowed Fuel Cost Factor

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities (DPU) has granted Massachusetts Electric Company approval to apply its fuel clause based on quarterly fuel cost estimates. One of the effects of this action is that customers receiving bills in a given quarter will see the same fuel cost factor on their bills rather than having the factor change monthly.

In explaining the new fuel clause, William J. Cadigan, president of Massachusetts Electric, said, "We will estimate fuel costs for each month of a coming quarter. A fuel factor based on the average of the three months' costs will then appear on customers' bills in those same months. We feel that this procedure will give our customers a better month-to-month idea of what the fuel cost portion of their bills will be." Cadigan went on to add that any difference between the amount collected and the actual fuel costs will be rectified in the following quarter.

Pilobolus Group To Perform

What has twelve arms, twelve legs, one heart, circus-like energy, and a creative force?

Answer: Pilobolus, a young innovative six-member dance group.

Originating at D. H. Conner College, Hanover, N.H., in dance classes during the 1970-1971 school year, the four men and two women have left their alma mater for the world of dance and have been defying gravity on three continents.

Pilobolus, the dance group, plays gymnastic games, stretching and turning in space in amoeba-like fashion. Their namesake, Pilobolus, is a fungus that explodes towards light, and the dance group, as a unit, expands to create powerful and organic forms.

The Pilobolus dance group will be appearing at George Washington Hall, Phillips Academy, Andover on Saturday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. Tickets can be picked up at George Washington Hall. Ticket information at the Academy.

A workshop conducted by the Pilobolus dance group will be held on Sunday, Dec. 8, from noon to 2 p.m. in the Abbot Gym. The workshop will be free to students who attend the concert and is open to anyone who is interested for a minimal fee.

Linkage is one of the key terms of the Pilobolus technique. Jonathan Wolken, one of the group, describes it as "felling as much at home on our hands as on our feet. Conventional dance depends on arms and feet. We have a non-partiality to space. We can work as much upside down."

The group, a self-contained unit, collaborates in performing, creating and living together.

Their life-style has combined their efforts to produce six dancer - choreographer - artistic directors.

About Lights?

It's common knowledge - if not common practice - that turning off lights when they're not needed saves both money and electrical energy.

But probably few people are aware of the fact that savings are different with incandescent and fluorescent lights.

USDA's Forest Service says you'll save by turning off incandescent lights immediately upon leaving a room. If you have fluorescent lights, however, don't turn them off when you leave the room unless you are going to be gone 15 minutes or more.

Thanksgiving time is upon us once again, and the holiday finds us somewhat curiously reminiscent of that first observance.

Mindful and thankful for our blessings, we also must be cognizant of the world around us, unsure as to what the future may hold.

For the most part Americans will dine sumptuously on the Thanksgiving holiday, in traditional family observances.

As they do, for a moment or two such things as food shortages, problems brought on by imposing difficult economic times, will be forgotten.

Somehow this annual holiday, while festive in many ways, brings with it some reminders, to cause us to give pause to reflect on our well-being.

A year ago, this country was faced with an energy shortage, which caused a realignment on our thinking of how best to utilize our resources.

This year, while the problem is eased somewhat, there remains the possibility of continuing problems with energy availability and we continue our research to better meet modern demands in this area.

This year we examine ways in which we can best feed the world's starving, as well as looking after nutritional needs of many in our own country.

A world more peaceful than at other Thanksgiving holidays, still is beset by problems stemming from the inability to live with one another, even in some parts of our own nation.

At that first Thanksgiving, the Pilgrims sat to give thanks for a bountiful harvest and pray for safety and freedom from want during the winter ahead.

It is fitting then, that as we observe Thanksgiving in 1974, we be mindful of the true meaning of that first observance.

Mindful that we are truly blessed, it is well to pause and give thanks to Him for the opportunity to rejoice on this holiday, and reflect that others are not so fortunate.

A moment of true Thanks Giving should be a part of everyone's holiday observance.

Legal Talent

In some ways we can understand the possible retaining of separate counsel by the school committee, but we fail to see why the special attorney needs to dispense the legal fees among the members of the bar.

A week ago, Atty. James Murphy, retained by a majority vote of the school committee to represent the school department in legal matters, informed the board that he had handed a case to another lawyer at the rate of $50 per hour.

Committeeman William L. Lane was opposed to such a move.

Atty. Murphy of Lynn was retained by the school board majority of Chairman Francis Griggs, John F. Lyons, George F. Olesen and John Wragg to represent them in the secret meeting case brought by Committeeman William Lane.

Now we're not surprised that Mr. Lane is opposed, since the script this year reads for him to be the adverse voice on the committee.

But, there seems to be some justification.

The need for special counsel debated here some weeks ago, has a possible justification, in view of the possible personal feelings of some of the school board members toward using town counsel.

But when this specialist retained by the majority now sees fit to dole out cases to brother members of the bar at $50 per hour, we begin to wonder if Andover is becoming a welfare state for the barristers.

Atty. Murphy noted at the meeting of the committee a week ago that there may be times when local legal talent may be the ones best to use in certain cases.

If such be the case, we wonder if there is justification at all for a school department attorney.

Why would it not seem justifiable to rely on town counsel for opinions, and should some special case present itself, as apparently it will, retain a local lawyer to serve the committee?

Even admitting that there is $5,000 available for legal services if necessary, seems to indicate that the local board should be able to call upon Andover or area legal talent to serve them.

The current situation seems to see the school department's legal services running in an uncontrolled atmosphere.

If it weren't so darned contradictory we would even suggest that the whole matter is illegally legal, but we aren't about to cough up the $50 an hour to find out.

School Budget

That figure handed out by the school committee last week as their prospective budget is somewhat heartening.

The estimate for public education next year has been pegged at $9,460,000, which is considered a starting point.

Customarily this figure goes downward as the budget process extends into the new year and up to town meeting time.

What must be of particular concern in the weeks and months ahead, is the effect of the November election.

State aid to education in the past few years has been a great assist to local taxpayers.

With a new governor due to assume office in January, some of these figures could be altered.

Already there is the anticipated economic gloom being forecast as Governor-Elect Dukakis and his staff examine the state's finances. Just how much of this is for the political benefit of the governor-elect remains to be seen.

Admittedly the state may be in rather tough financial shape, but local taxpayers are likewise in difficult economic straits. Thus it seems reasonable to assume that the state assistance for local educational needs should approximate what has been forthcoming in the past. If such is the case, then the initial $9.4 million figure for Andover schools may seem a reasonable starting point.

Off The Top Of The Desk

At many of the traditional football games, half-time refreshments generally include hot dogs and coffee, among other things.

At the Pentucket game in West Newbury, where North Andover now plays its annual Turkey Day game, the festive treat at half-time or during the game are McIntosh apples, sold in abundance during the course of the gridiron fray.

Somehow or other, we never cease to be amazed at the aversion to sidewalks the youths of communities have.

Noticeable are the hundreds of youngsters who walk to and from schools daily along the roadsides, despite the towns having spent considerable sums to provide safe passage for them by the installation of paved sidewalks.

Apparently the poor officiating rampant in the professional football ranks this year, eventually evens off.

Sunday's game in which the Patriots beat Baltimore had some rather glaring examples of sloppy officiating and poor calls.

This time, however, the poor performance by the officials worked in favor of the Patriots. A few times this season the Pats were the victims, so maybe it evens off in the end.

It will be good to see Andover's downtown area illuminated again this year for the holiday season.

The holiday lights are expected to be turned on tonight, with small lights adorning the small trees along the business section and the big tree in the square also bedecked with holiday lights.

A year ago, due to the energy crisis, the downtown area had only the festive wreaths as the main Christmas display.

A flood plain zoning seminar will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 4 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Coach and Six, Holiday Inn, Marlboro, Junction of Rtes. 495 and 20.

Sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, Massachusetts Audubon Society, the Essex and Middlesex Conservation Districts, and the Massachusetts Association of Conservation Commissions, the program is aimed at providing technical, legal and administrative information for communities.

What Our Readers Say-

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

In regards to Thanksgiving Day in the year of our Lord 1974 let us turn back the pages of history to the observance of the 1st Thanksgiving in America. The meaning and the purpose as our forefathers observed it. Our forefathers gave thanks to God for their first harvest of food - also asking God's blessing on themselves. Our forefathers feasted on spiritual food first with Thanksgiving - secondly on food for the body. Their observance of the first Thanksgiving Day has been passed on to posterity to observe likewise.

Today in 1974 how the observance of the first Thanksgiving day seems to have changed. How many of us take time out to give proper thanks to God as did our forefathers? In so doing we would make God more important and ourselves less important - this would help us greatly in these difficult times involving our many problems facing our nation. How? To think and to act more correctly in all we do for our great country the United States of America.

It is by our fruits as a nation we shall be known around the world.

Thanksgiving Day is observed annually in the United States of America for Thanksgiving to God for our national mercies. May God bless America and its leaders this Thanksgiving Day 1974 and down thru the ages - which I am confident God will do.

May we all enjoy a "Thankful Thanksgiving."

Lowell U. Open House Bodes Well

If the turnout of high school students at the first "open house" of the forthcoming University of Lowell is any criterion, the new university is off to a roaring start.

Close to four thousand students thronged Costello Gymnasium on the Lowell Tech campus for the seminar sponsored by the admissions offices of LTI and Lowell State College.

In a speech of welcome, President Everett V. Olsen of Lowell Tech stressed that the merger of Lowell's two fine educational institutions offered students in this area unparalleled educational opportunities and urged them to take advantage of them.

Lowell State College President, Dr. Daniel H. O'Leary was representing the Board of State Colleges at Harvard for an affirmative action meeting, and LSC Academic Dean Dr. Robert J. Foy greeted prospective freshman and transfer students in his behalf.

Principal speaker at the program, Atty. Joseph Donahue, who is chairman of the University of Lowell merger commission, outlined the history of the merger and told of the work the committee is doing to blend the various departments of the two colleges.

He stressed that his committee is doing everything possible to assure that the new University will be one of the finest in the nation, and the committee would welcome any suggestions from those in attendance which they felt would enhance the educational capabilities of the university.

Over 50 tables were manned by faculty of both schools, offering information on the various academic departments, in addition to housing and financial aid programs. High school students from such locations as Ringwood, N.J. and upstate New York, many with parents accompanying them, travelled to Lowell to get a firsthand impression of the university facilities.

Most secondary schools throughout Massachusetts were represented and students from Billerica, Dracut and Uxbridge High Schools arrived in chartered buses for the open admissions seminar.

Large numbers of students came from the Lawrence and Worcester areas, according to Dr. Mary E. McGauvran, Dean of Administration and Director of Admissions at Lowell State. Both Dr. McGauvran and Maurice W. Harrison, Dean of Admissions at LTI co-ordinated the day long program.

The merger of the two state sponsored schools was created in late 1973, and the new major university will be established between Jan. 1 and July of 1975. The University of Lowell will offer a wide variety of courses in the Colleges of Applied Health, Education, Engineering, Liberal Arts, Management Science, Music and Pure and Applied Science.

Roads, Trees Snowcapped

An early season snow storm presented some pretty scenery but rather slippery road conditions Tuesday. Here on Lowell Street, the trees are bedecked by snow, while the roadway is slush covered, presenting some hazards for early morning traffic.

Special Needs Conference

Helping students with special needs by individualizing instruction will be the focus of an all day conference on Tuesday, Dec. 3 at the Marriott Hotel in Newton. Several hundred teachers and administrators from schools in this area will be attending.

The conference is being jointly sponsored by the state Individually Guided Education Coordinating Council, the Merrimack Education Center of Chelmsford, Project Spoke in Norton and Fitchburg State College. Keynote speaker will be Dr. William M. Bechtol, Director of the Center for the Management of Educational Systems at Southwest Minnesota State College and author of a book entitled, "Individualizing Instruction and Keeping Your Sanity."

According to M.E.C. Associate Director Leslie Bernal, Dr. Bechtol's approach to individualizing instruction is very down-to-earth. It gives teachers practical advice, rather than theory. Dr. Bernal says the entire conference will also deal with the practical, rather than the theoretical.

He goes on to explain that the conference will emphasize helping the special needs child because of a new law (Chapter 766) which requires that students with learning problems as well as those with physical or mental handicaps be taught in the regular school classroom (as much as possible) rather than being segregated from the rest of the students. Dr. Bernal hopes the conference will help teachers and administrators meet the challenges this is now placing on them.

After Dr. Bechtol's opening address, the conference will break up into small group sessions for the remainder of the day. These will deal with such topics as individualizing instruction, grouping and scheduling, community resources to meet special needs, diagnosis/assessment, home-school programs, career education, learning styles, learning centers, and individually guided motivation.

Films will be shown throughout the day on subjects such as: Dyslexia: Prevention and Remediation, A Classroom Approach; Preventing Reading Failure; Team Teaching in the Elementary School; Behavior Modification in the Classroom; and Primary Education in England.

Among those conducting the small group sessions will be Dr.

Lawrence Quigley, Vice-President of Fitchburg State College, John Coyle, Principal of Bancroft School, Andover; Denise McCarthy, Principal of the Park Street School, Lawrence; Roger Smyth, Assistant Superintendent of the Chelmsford Schools; Evelyn Desmarais, Principal of the Harrington School in Chelmsford; William Hassey, Coordinator of Educational Services for M.E.C. in Chelmsford and Ann Murray, M.E.C. Home-School Field Agent.

William Goldman, Chairman of the Special Education Department at Fitchburg State College will also be speaking at the conference along with four of his staff members. Special education teachers from the McKay Campus school in Fitchburg will be there to conduct small group sessions.

Registration for the conference begins at 8 a.m. The first session starts at 9 a.m., and the final session of the day will conclude about 3:15 p.m.

Among the school systems which will be sending teachers and administrators to the conference are Andover, Bedford, Billerica, Carlisle, Chelmsford, Lawrence, Dunstable, Groton, Littleton, Lunenburg, Methuen, North Andover, Tewksbury, Westford, Wilmington, Woburn, the North Middlesex Regional School District, Lawrence Regional Vocational Technical School, Nashoba Valley Tech and Shawsheen Valley Vocational Technical School.

Winter's Arrival

It may be Thanksgiving time, but it appeared more like Christ-

Rice Farmers Bid Blackbirds Big Bye-Bye

Those cassette tape players so highly prized by teen-agers have been known to drive adults out of their homes.

Now they're being used to rout
red-winged blackbirds out of rice

Hordes of blackbirds annually invade the fields as the crop matures, inflicting heavy damages and losses. It's estimated that a thousand of the birds can eat or damage as much as 3,000 pounds of rice by harvest-time.

Taped recordings of the blackbird's distress call played on an amplifier-speaker system mounted on a pickup truck.

As the vehicle moves around the fields, the amplified sounds excite the birds and keep them from eating the rice.

Used in combination with other methods, the new tool is proving way to reduce grain losses.

Zack To Speak At Temple

Isadore Zack will be the speaker at Temple Emanuel, 483 Lowell St., Lawrence, at the Sabbath Eve. Services of Dec. 6.

Mr. Zack is the Civil Rights Director of the New England Regional Office of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. In this capacity, Mr. Zack is in charge of the fact-finding activities of the League in this area. The ADL, educational arm of B'nai B'rith, oldest and largest Jewish service organization in the world, is engaged in a program designed to strengthen the democratic fabric of the American community by working with church, school, civic and other local and national groups in a joint effort to eradicate racial and religious discrimination. Its fact-finding department investigates and reports on the activities of the professional hate-mongers and bigots, seeking to check their undemocratic practices by exposing them to the light of public opinion.

Mr. Zack came to the Anti-Defamation League in 1946, directly after five years service with the U.S. Army in World War II, four of those years being spent with the Military Intelligence Division as a Special Agent. For three years he was Special Agent in charge of the Counter Intelligence Group for the First Service Command, and as such was commended by the Secretary of War for outstanding service, one of six citations he received. He is currently Secretary of the Military Intelligence Association of New England and also National Vice-President of the Counter Intelligence Corps Association.

Mr. Zack, who is deeply involved in the area of Civil Rights will bring a message of the activities transpiring in the Greater New England area in recent days. He is a speaker of note and has spoken throughout these areas.

Sabbath Eve. Services at Temple Emanuel are open to the entire community and all who are interested in listening to this lecture are welcome to come and attend services which begin at 8:15 p.m.

Former Minister Speaker

Guest speaker at the Unitarian Universalist Church, 244 Lowell St., Andover, on Sunday, Dec. 1, 10:30 a.m. will be Rev. Keith C. Munson, minister of the Unitarian Church in Cherry Hill, New Jersey.

Mr. Munson is a former minister of the Andover church, having served the congregation in Lawrence and then in Andover from 1960-68. He presided at the dedication services for the present building in 1966.

Mr. Munson will speak at the morning service on the topic "The Rebel and the Revolutionist."

Friends and former associates in Greater Lawrence are cordially invited to attend and to renew old acquaintance with the Munsons.

Christmas School Staff Set

A staff of 25 persons are participating in the Christmas School to be held at Faith Lutheran Church from Monday, Dec. 2 through Friday, Dec. 6. The school is designed to help four and five year olds come to an appreciation of the significance of the Christmas story.

Those participating in the staff this year are: Director: Mrs. Barbara Clayton of West Box Hill, Secretary: Mrs. Myrom; Organist: Mrs. Margaret Berger; Worship: Sigrid Perkins, Lois Koerckel, and Marianne Karp; Projects: Mrs. Ethel Olsen; Teachers: Mrs. Doreen Hunt, Mrs. Judy Malakoff; Mrs. Marilyn Seaburg, Mrs. Kathy Whitley, and Mrs. Vi Curtin; Assistant teachers: Mrs. Judy Smith, Mrs. Carol Finn, Mrs. Fredrick Heiter, Mrs. Louise Stevenson; Substitutes: Mrs. Chris Fernandes, Mrs. Gunnell Mattsson, Mrs. Sally Thoren, and Mrs. Wilson; Games: Mrs. Barbara Ziegenbein; Refreshments: Mrs. Inge Sonnenschmidt; Nursery: Mrs. Roberta Ede; and Staff refreshments: Mrs. Ann Anderson.

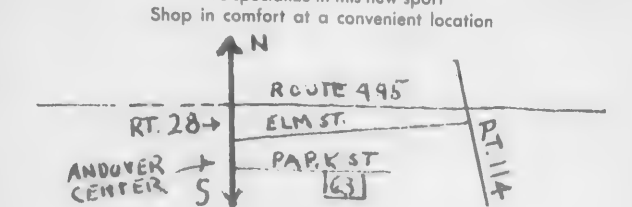

Registrations for the Christmas School are still being accepted and made by contacting Mrs. Patricia Myrom, 69 Carmel Road, Andover.

Gen. Israel Putnam, whose home, built in Danvers about 1641, still stands, was best known for his courage at the battle of Bunker Hill when he told his troops, "Don't fire till you can see the whites of their eyes."

at Christ Church on Central St. are Mrs. Allen Gable and Mrs. Gordon McAdams.

Pre-Schoolers Set For Thanksgiving

For the past few weeks the Free Church Co-operative Pre-schoolers have been busily preparing for Thanksgiving by working on their Indian costumes. They have made head-dresses, tom-toms, beaded necklaces and jackets. The results are quite colorful.

Mrs. Priscilla Seewald, their teacher, has been explaining to the pre-schoolers the history of Thanksgiving and teaching them Indian dances and customs.

This year's class includes: William Atchison, Ricky Banzi, Andra Dibyendu, Kirsten Beigle, Jennifer Bride, David Cookson, Ellen Cunningham, Andrea Dennett, Christopher Harding, Mark Jurgen, William Koromhas, Christina McDuffie, Steven Mencias, Michael Nelligan, Kim Patti, Tahisa Paul, Rebecca Penner, Matthew Rubenstein, Daren Sanborn.

The Free Church Co-operative Pre-school, located on the premises of the Free Church, Elm St., Andover, offers children a rich opportunity to make a gradual adjustment to educational experiences before beginning kindergarten. It offers co-operating parents an opportunity to see their children in other than a home environment, to learn successful methods of encouraging learning and to put these experiences to use in day to day contact.

Applications in the Free Church Co-operative Pre-school for the coming year (1975-76) are being considered. Interested parents are urged to contact membership chairman Mrs. Frank Nelligan and Mrs. David Penner for information. A full scholarship will be available and inquiries are encouraged.

To Present Black Nativity

A special afternoon matinee of "Black Nativity", staged by the National Center of Afro-American Artists, has just been scheduled on Sunday, Dec. 8 at Denworth Hall, Bradford College at 3:30 p.m.

The tremendous demand of tickets which has completely sold out the scheduled evening performance and the cancellation of a performance elsewhere, has enabled the Nativity Committee to schedule this special matinee.

In "Black Nativity", poet Langston Hughes takes traditional Christmas music and "Negro" spirituals (like "Go Tell It On the Mountain" and "The Sweet Little Jesus Child"), casts them in gospel form, and weaves them together around the story of the birth of Jesus. The real message of "Black Nativity", however, is the energy of gospel, and its capacity to make people "live", shout and sing. It is Black art, creative and innovative within tradition, syncopated and everchanging.

Dr. Glen A. Gulezian, 8 Pioneer Circle, Andover, Chairman of the Nativity Committee today urged all Churches and Congregations as well as the general public to purchase tickets as soon as possible so that they will not be disappointed.

Tickets may be purchased through the Lawrence Council of Churches' office, 117A South Broadway or by telephoning Rev. Herbert Schumm.

Shakespeare

December will be Shakespeare Month at Brandeis University's Spingold Theater. "Macbeth" will be presented the first two weeks in the month (Dec. 3-14), by Spingold's own company and "Much Ado About Nothing," presented by the Oxford and Cambridge Shakespeare Company from England, will follow in the third week of December (Dec. 16-22). Both productions will feature evening performances as well as special student matinee presentations on selected weekday mornings.

For information and reservations please call the Spingold Theater box office or write for tickets to Spingold Theater, Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass.

Andrea Beth Gulezian

To Be Presented

On November 30, the annual Trinity Cotillion sponsored by the Young Women's Auxiliary of the Holy Trinity Armenian Apostolic Church of Greater Boston will take place at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston.

This year eleven young ladies from the New England area will be presented.

Among them is: Andrea Beth Gulezian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vahey Gulezian of Andover, a graduate of Andover High School and presently a sophomore at Bradford College.

Andrea, better known as Andi, spent the summer working with children from the Boston area at the Morgan Memorial Fresh Air Camp in Athol. Andrea is also involved with the Living Presence Experimental Theater which is a non-profit group bringing together young people in the Haverhill area.

Holiday Brunch Is Scheduled

The Andover League of Women Voters will be planning its State Program at a Holiday brunch on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Fran Hughes, 13 Lockway Road.

Preparation of programs for State Convention in May will be considered. Also to be discussed will be ideas concerning state programs. The membership will be asked for their ideas on land use, economy in government, senior citizens and education. There will also be talk about national and local priorities, such as human resources.

A festive and interesting morning to begin the holiday season. Babysitting will be provided at Theresa Reichert's, 49 Cheever Circle.

Earnings Off

New England Electric System reports consolidated earnings for the first ten months of 1974 of $1.54 per share compared to $1.93 per share for the same period last year, when 1,250,000 fewer shares were outstanding. Earnings per share for the twelve months ended Oct. 31, 1974 were $1.99 not including the gain from the sale of the gas subsidiaries.

Holiday Items To Be Featured

A table of special holiday food items will be featured at next Tuesday's Christmas Tea for members of the Newcomer's Club of Andover-North Andover.

The 1:30 to 4 p.m. affair will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward O'Dell, 96 Wildwood Road, Andover. Babysitting reservations may still be made through Friday with Mrs. Michael McEvoy of Andover.

Among the items to be sold will be various kinds of hors d'oeuvres, holiday breads, candy, candies, relishes, and the like.

Christmas Fair Set In Lawrence

The Christ Presbyterian Church of Lawrence, will hold its annual Christmas Fair on Dec. 4 in the Parish House located at 96 East Haverhill St., Lawrence.

The hours will be between 10 and 8 p.m., during which time coffee and doughnuts, hot dogs and coffee or tonic will be available.

A good old fashioned German dinner consisting of Sauerbraten (roast beef), dumplings and homemade kuchen will be served at 5 and 6:30 p.m.

Various tables exhibiting Christmas items and gifts, many hand made, and a country store stocked with jellies, jams, cheeses, cold slaw and other delectable items will be available for your choosing.

All proceeds of the Fair are to be used for its building fund. Tickets for the dinner can be obtained by calling Mrs. Alice Hammer, or the church office by Dec. 1.

Christmas Concert On Sunday

A Christmas Concert will be given by the Andover Choral Society and the Andover Male Choir at Methuen Memorial Organ Hall Sunday, Dec. 1, at 4 p.m.

Featured will be the presentation of Bach's "For Us A Child Is Born," the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah." Soloists will be Hazel O'Donnell, soprano; Myra Searle, JoAnn Bennam, tenors; Edward Heifetz, baritone; Maxine Calt, pianist; Donald Ketzler, organist.

Holiday Party Benefits Home

Preparing For Benefit

The second annual Olde Time Holiday Party for the benefit of the New England Home for Little Wanderers will be held on Sunday, Dec. 8 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Andover Country Club.

Featured again this year will be home made hors d'oeuvres, fish house punch, a sing-along piano player and a singing group. The event is sponsored by the Greater Lawrence Chapter of Friends of the Home.

Co-chairmen are Mrs. J. Duncan Black of Andover and Mrs. Anthony Foresta of North Andover. They will be assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Farrington, president and honorary chairman; Mrs. Elmer Lenk, Mrs. George Worth, Mrs. Louis Bourbeau, Mrs. Henry Audesse, Mrs. Howard Cobin and Mrs. James Gildea, and Mrs. Frank Simons.

Any one wishing to join in the festivities and at the same time bring a meaningful holiday to the children of the N.E. Home, may obtain tickets by contacting any member of the committee, or the ticket chairman, Mrs. Frank Simons, 1 Longwood Drive, Andover.

Eskimo Art

"Eskimo Sculpture and Prints" will open at the Peabody Museum of Salem on Dec. 7. The exhibit consists of 37 sculptures and 30 prints by Eskimos from the Canadian Northwest Territories and Province of Quebec. A special loan exhibition from the Canadian Department of Indian and Northern Affairs and coordinated by the Canadian Consulate in Boston.

The exhibit will continue at the Peabody Museum through Jan. 12. Open Monday - Saturday 9-5; Sundays and holidays 1-5.

Christmas Program On Monday

The Shawsheen Village Women's Club will meet Monday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. at the Andover Country Club for its annual Christmas party.

The Merrimack College Glee Club will present a program of Christmas music and the traditional Wassail bowl will be in evidence.

Joseph Hagen, of the West Junior High school, will address the group on "Student-Teacher Interrelationships."

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. John Bangert and Mrs. Frank Stevenson.

Tennstedt Is Guest Conductor

Klaus Tennstedt, General Music Director of the city of Kiel, Germany, appears for the first time as guest conductor of the Boston Symphony during the tenth week of the orchestra's winter season. At the concerts of Dec. 12, 13, 14 and 17 -- all at 8:30 p.m. except for the 2 p.m. Friday concert -- he will conduct an all-Brahms program featuring violinist Miriam Fried. The program will include the Academic Festival Overture, the Violin Concerto and the Symphony No. 4 in E Minor.

Born in 1926, Tennstedt rose to prominence in his native East Germany, where he served as music director of the Dresden Opera and the State Theater of Schwerin as well as guest conductor of numerous orchestras and opera companies, including those of Leipzig, Berlin and Brno, Czechoslovakia. He left East Germany in 1971 to begin a new career in the West, where, besides his duties in Kiel, he has made guest appearances in Stockholm, West Berlin, Hamburg and Munich. His North American debut took place earlier this season with the Toronto Symphony.

Rumanian-born Miriam Fried, soloist in the Brahms Violin Concerto, first appeared with the orchestra during the 1973 Tanglewood season, and the present performances are her first in Symphony Hall. A protégée of Isaac Stern, she won first prize in the 1968 Paganini International Competition in Genoa and in the 1971 Queen Elisabeth of Belgium Competition. Since then she has appeared with nearly every major orchestra in this country and abroad.

The program brings together three of Brahms' most popular orchestral scores.

There was a time when the major cost item in house construction was the material, with labor being secondary. Today, the equation is reversed. Now labor is king. That is why many manufactured items are cheaper to dispose of than repair. We are in the disposable age. However, the wise homeowner knows that his own labor is his most economical resource. Motivation will uncover skills you never knew you had. Simple projects, taken one at a time, and with the proper advice, can add value and equity to your home while stopping the drain on your wallet.

Bob Says:

One of the most frequently used - and misused - expressions in the business world today is that a product is "guaranteed" or "warranted". The two words are interchangeable. Originally the Saxon root "gua" was pronounced "wa". Everybody is always unconditionally "guaranteeing" this thing or that job. Well we'd like to say a few words about one of our "guarantees", and what it means.

We guarantee service. That means that if you call us to fix your copier, we'll come the same day, if your hours permit, and if we don't fix it properly we'll return and make it right any time up to 2 weeks from the initial response. The fact that we charge less than other companies in no way reflects on the quality of service we provide. In fact, you get more.

Andover Gardeners Win Prizes

Members of the Andover Garden Club were awarded several prizes at a flower show held in the Burlington Mall recently. The show was entitled "Inter-Nationale" and was sponsored by the Mass. Federation of Garden Clubs.

Andover's Jr. Club members were: Betsey Frost, a Junior Achievement Award in Horticulture for her wax begonia. In the Artistic Design division, Martha Cowdery won a first for "Norway" a design inspired by Hans Christian Anderson's story "The Fir Tree." Martha also received a first award in Horticulture for her jade plant.

In the Senior Division Mrs. Ralph Hill was awarded a Tricolor in Artistic Design for her interpretation "Monaco On the Riviera." "Balinese Dancers," a turntable design by Mrs. Robert Lange, received a first. There were two winners in the Horticulture category: Mrs. Norman Frost, Jr., won a blue for her strawberry begonia as did Mrs. George Bragdon for her Oregon Grape Holly.

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Schoenholz

Schoenholz - Hadam

Susan Catherine Hadam, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hadam, 56 Birch Road, Andover, became the bride November 9, of David Ansten Schoenholz.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Schoenholz of Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Otis Maxfield performed the 3 o'clock ceremony at West Parish Church, Andover. Wedding music was provided by soloist Alphonse Tatarunis, with John Wobesky playing the trumpet and Keith Gould, the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess-style gown of silk shantung trimmed with rosepoint lace, and a cathedral train.

Teresa Galloway of Charlotte, N. C., served as her maid of honor, and bridesmaids were her two sisters, Virginia Hadam of Andover and Mrs. Stephen Owens of Methuen. They wore princess-style gowns of mint green crepe, with contrasting bodices of emerald green velvet.

Paul Schoenholz of Granville, Ohio, was his brother's best man, and ushers were William Lashbrook of Montclair, N.J., and Hugo Sotolongo of Jacksonville, Fla.

A reception followed at the Lanam Club, and the couple took a wedding trip to the Bahamas.

The new Mrs. Schoenholz graduated from Andover High School and Duke University. She is a registered nurse at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago. Her husband, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Duke University, is a CPA with Arthur Andersen & Co. in Chicago.

They are also making their home in Chicago.

On Honor Roll

The following students of Our Lady of Nazareth Academy, Wakefield, received honors in their class for outstanding work in the first quarter:

Judy Maguire, Sheila McDonald and Diane Ray, sophomores from Andover, second honors; Carol Oelwang, senior, Kathie Reilly, junior and Cathy Fitzgerald, freshman, all of Andover, third honors.

Testing On Agenda

There will be a P.T.A. meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Sanborn School cafeteria. Joseph M. Normandy, Jr., principal, will present the results of last Spring's testing.

Mrs. Robert Giata

Giata - De Velis

Rhonda Marie DeVelis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. DeVelis, 11 Hansom Road, Andover, became the bride November 2, to Robert Giata, also of Andover. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Giata, 27 Memorial Circle.

The Rev. Michael DiGregorio performed the 10:30 a.m. ceremony at St. Augustine's Church, which was decorated with baskets of red and white flowers, and white bows on the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon tiers trimmed in chantilly lace and sequins, with a bodice of chantilly lace, and a long train. Her veil was attached to a high crown trimmed with matching lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and carnations, statice and lemon leaf.

Denise DeVelis was her sister's maid of honor, wearing a gown of red and white velour and carrying a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations with statice. Bridesmaids included the bride's cousin, Shelly Brian of Stoneham; Mrs. Darlene Rudd of Lawrence; Patricia Douty of Andover; Mrs. Ellen Riddle of Lawrence, and the groom's sister, Deborah Giata of Andover. They wore red velour gowns with red and white bouquets.

The bride's sister, Julie, and her cousin, Michelle Brian of Stoneham, were flower girls. They carried fireside baskets of red and white carnations.

David Buck of Andover served as best man, and ushers included the bride's brother, Joseph DeVelis; the groom's brother, Dennis Giata; Michael Madensky of Andover; and the bride's cousins, Donny and Johnny Morotta of Medford.

Al Morotta was a junior usher.

Mrs. Goddard To Address Gardeners

"People should surround themselves with beauty." That's the philosophy of Mrs. Carl Goddard, guest speaker at the Dec. 3 meeting of the Andover Garden Club. The 1 p.m. program will be held at the Andover Country Club.

Mrs. Goddard will share her creative talents by presenting "Festive Christmas Decorations" placing emphasis on floral table settings, fruit, carvings and vegetables.

Interior and exterior garden- ing, painting, and lecturing are only a few of the beauty-creating projects of Mrs. Goddard. She also has two books to her credit. Her first "The Gardeners Christmas Book" is now in its third printing. Her second book is entitled "The Gardeners Book of Arrangements."

Through the influence of Mrs. Goddard's program members will surely be inspired to surround themselves with flowers and greens thus adding beauty to the home during the holidays.

Following the meeting "Christmas Cheer" will be served by Mrs. Thomas Stark and Mrs. Charles H. Poore. Mrs. John T. Batal, Jr. will provide a seasonal tea table arrangement.

If cooked for later use, meat should be cooled rapidly in the refrigerator. A food safety tip from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Cormorants Do Head Southward

A quiet changing of the guard happens at this season among those large dark birds that perch on New England coastal rocks, the cormorants.

Cormorants are black-appearing birds that look vaguely similar to geese. Their trademark consists of standing with wings held spread-eagle fashion. When they fly, they appear as black geese with slightly longer tails. Usually they hardly rise above the water and one expects their flailing wing tips to touch the waves.

If one watches rocks along the coast these days, one notices a gradual transformation taking place among the cormorants. There not only are fewer cormorants, but those that remain no longer invariably wear bright orange chin straps as summer cormorants do. Now the rocks support a few cormorants with orange chin straps and a few with white chin straps. One might conclude that the birds were molting and slowly changing the plumage and gular patch (a loose skin beneath the jaws) colors.

What actually is happening is that the double-crested cormorant of summer is being replaced by the great cormorant of winter. The double-crested birds, the orange chin straps, are flying south for a warmer climate. The white chin straps consider southern New England a winter resort.

In a matter of weeks, almost all cormorants along the New England coast will be greater cormorants. In winter there will be fewer cormorants along the coast than in summer because far fewer greater cormorants live in North America. The double-crested cormorants use the New England coast for breeding and the double-crested also breed on inland lakes even on the northern Great Plains.

Indeed, if one were to compare the seasonal numbers of the two cormorants i. New England, one would conclude that the double-crested cormorant with breeding sites from Newfoundland to Alaska was by far the more successful bird. But the comparison involves only North American birds and is quite misleading.

Actually, the greater cormorant is among the world's more successful birds. While double-crested cormorants are confined to North America, the greater cormorant breeds around the world and in both the northern and southern hemispheres, including Australia and New Zealand.

The breeding colonies from which the greater cormorants of New England winters come are those of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, with possibly a few from Greenland. The birds seldom travel farther south than Long Island Sound. These particular colonies are more successful today than they were 50 years ago.

Photographs On Exhibit At Museum

"Sculpture is in its own right one of the major arts. It will command the photographer's respect, and he in turn will be enriched by the experience of working with it." These are the words of 20th century master photographer Clarence Kennedy, who devoted his life to the study of the sculpture of the past. His photographic work will be on view in the Print Galleries of the Museum of Fine Arts, Dec. 14 through Feb. 23, 1975.

Clarence Kennedy: A Photographer Looks at Sculpture will include photographs of Italian Renaissance sculpture, and a few images of Greek subjects. Kennedy's aim was to make his photographs the next best thing to actually seeing the work of art. His photographs gently lead the viewer around a sculpture, exploring the details of each piece. They are sensitively constructed windows which let the observer see angles and areas often overlooked.

Kennedy utilized daylight whenever possible, intensifying the feeling of the sculptured surface. A series of photographs - different views of the same subject - flows like a film. A frozen statue seems to come to life.

The exhibition will be supplemented by a selection of photographs of sculpture and architecture by other photographers, including Frederick Evans, Bernice Abbott, Jerry N. Uelsmann and George Krause.

Reappointed

George C. Long, 7 Arrowhead Lane, Andover, has been reappointed as a Notary Public, Secretary of State John F.X. Davoren has announced. Confirmation of the reappointment was made here at a meeting of the Executive Council, following submission of the name by the acting governor.

Protein Count Like Miles Per Gallon

With the price of food in this country rising to unconscionable levels, and the inadequate supply of food in other countries, we have a double reason to re-think our food-buying and eating habits, the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture points out this week.

Our emphasis for years has been on rich and extravagant foods, and generally speaking we eat too much, says the MDA.

We have too many fat people, just as we have too many fat cars in the United States. Neither condition is necessary.

The average man needs only nine ounces of protein - meat, fish, poultry - per day for full energy and good health. Yet the average American is likely to consume that much protein just at dinner, and to expect more at breakfast and lunch.

De-emphasize meats and sweets, says the MDA, and save money. Moreover, there will be more to go around, less pressure on supplies, and a resultant fall in prices.

In short, we consume more of everything than we need.

Homemakers will have to learn to plan menus around vegetables in season, and to change their cooking habits. More rice, beans, grains and eggs - and less meat, fish and poultry - will keep us healthier both in body and pocketbook.

When such items as potatoes, carrots, onions and turnips are reasonable, put them together in a lamb stew. When eggs are down, serve an omelet or a quiche, using chopped leftover meats to enhance it. Try some unusual recipes with inexpensive foods - for instance, apple-stuffed acorn squash, or spinach souffle.

We'll Be Happy To Explain Value and Economy For Your Tire Dollars.

These days we all like to make sure we're getting the most for our money. That's why we'd like you to know the facts about why we believe the Michelin 'X' to be your best tire buy.

Every Michelin 'X' tire is backed by a 40,000 mile warranty for tread wear on domestic cars. That's just about twice the mileage you'd expect from a conventional tire under the same driving conditions. Also, because of its radial design the Michelin 'X' rolls with less road resistance than conventional tires, and that means you can save up to 10% on your present gas consumption (pretty good considering today's fuel crisis). Plus, every Michelin 'X' tire gives you all the distinctive radial tire advantages over conventional bias-ply tires: smoother ride, easier handling, better traction and firmer road holding. And, they add up to a lot of comfort and safety.

Invest in better driving. Stop in and have a set of Michelin 'X' radials installed today.

Construction Progress

Construction of the treatment plant for the Greater Lawrence Sanitary district is progressing well, as indicated by the activity shown here off Sutton street in North Andover. The huge facility now has most of actual construction work above ground with the sub ground floor and tank areas pretty generally initially completed.

Henderson Reports On Progressive Year At Bank

Robert M. Henderson, President of the Andover Savings Bank reported another year of progress to the Corporators at their annual meeting Monday, Nov. 25.

Despite the heavy outflow of savings from thrift institutions across the country, Henderson reported a $5,440,000 gain, bringing total deposits of the bank of $93,038,000. The depositors of the bank shared in the distribution of $5,264,000 in dividends paid on their savings accounts during the past year.

Commenting on the current housing crisis and tight money situation, Henderson said that the bank had made every effort to accommodate home buyers in the area, but eventually was forced to close its mortgage department in August. In spite of this, more than $14,000,000 was loaned to home buyers in the past year, primarily in the Greater Lawrence area. Proposed legislation to exempt interest or dividend income received on savings accounts would improve the mortgage picture because of the increased flow of savings which would result, Henderson said.

The officers and staff came in for considerable praise for their part in the bank's progress during the year. Arthur Reynolds of Andover was recognized for his many years of service as a member of the bank's Board of Investment.

In other business, J. LeRoy Wood of Methuen was elected a new member of the Board of Investment, replacing Mr. Reynolds. Two new Trustees were elected: Marion S. Carpenter of North Andover and Robert E. Webster of West Newbury. The corporators of the bank elected the following new members: John C. Doherty of Andover; Gordon L. Freeman, Jr., North Andover; Clifford J. Howe, Andover; Andrew F. Shea, 3rd, Andover; Ann J. Stevens, Andover; William G. Weiss, Jr., Methuen; and John J. Zenevitch, Methuen.

Robert M. Henderson

The featured speaker for the evening, following the dinner meeting was Joseph B. Doherty of Andover, President of the National Board of Realtors. He spoke of his experiences in Washington when he participated in the summit conference and commented on the present housing crisis.

Computer Helpful At Market

If your arithmetic is reasonably good, and you can remember how many pints in a quart and ounces to a pound, you can save a goodly amount on your food budget by wise comparison shopping, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA).

If it is, and you can, you'll do even better with a pocket calculator. But if numbers are not your thing, you're at the mercy of the packaging industry, and you'd better bring a friend - plus a calculator.

For a one-ounce serving of corn flakes, for instance, you can pay two prices in the same store. You'll pay one price per ounce if you buy the 18-ounce package. And you'll pay twice as much per ounce if you buy the one-ounce single-serving boxes. And it's not a rip-off, either. Packaging 18 individual ounces costs a great deal more than boxing them all together.

The same kind of thing happens with mayonnaise and salad dressings. Two pint jars will cost you as much as 35 cents more than getting both pints in a single quart jar. The examples are endless. But none of this is a secret. Just check the unit prices on the supermarket shelves and see for yourself - without a calculator.

The cost of packaging materials - glass, plastic, paper, printing - has risen enormously, along with the price of food. As a general rule, then, the larger package of food you buy, the more you can save.

Once, in the dear, dead days almost beyond recall, one found Oreo cookies displayed in large, square boxes, and bought them by the pound, in a paper bag. Pickles came in a barrel, and the clerk fished out the ones you wanted. Now you pick the same cookies or pickles off the shelf - attractively packed.

Reports On Year At Bank

Robert M. Henderson

new member of the Board of Investment, replacing Mr. Reynolds. Two new Trustees were elected: Marion S. Carpenter of North Andover and Robert E. Webster of West Newbury. The corporators of the bank elected the following new members: John C. Doherty of Andover; Gordon L. Freeman, Jr., North Andover; Clifford J. Howe, Andover; Andrew F. Shea, 3rd, Andover; Ann J. Stevens, Andover; William G. Weiss, Jr., Methuen; and John J. Zenevitch, Methuen.

The featured speaker for the evening, following the dinner meeting was Joseph B. Doherty of Andover, President of the National Board of Realtors. He spoke of his experiences in Washington when he participated in the summit conference and commented on the present housing crisis.

Computer Helpful At Market

If your arithmetic is reasonably good, and you can remember how many pints in a quart and ounces to a pound, you can save a goodly amount on your food budget by wise comparison shopping, says the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture (MDA).

If it is, and you can, you'll do even better with a pocket calculator. But if numbers are not your thing, you're at the mercy of the packaging industry, and you'd better bring a friend - plus a calculator.

For a one-ounce serving of corn flakes, for instance, you can pay two prices in the same store. You'll pay one price per ounce if you buy the 18-ounce package. And you'll pay twice as much per ounce if you buy the one-ounce single-serving boxes. And it's not a rip-off, either: Packaging 18 individual ounces costs a great deal more than boxing them all together.

The same kind of thing happens with mayonnaise and salad dressings. Two pint jars will cost you as much as 35 cents more than getting both pints in a single quart jar. The examples are endless. But none of this is a secret. Just check the unit prices on the supermarket shelves and see for yourself - without a calculator.

The cost of packaging materials - glass, plastic, paper, printing - has risen enormously, along with the price of food. As a general rule, then, the larger package of food you buy, the more you can save.

Once, in the dear, dead days almost beyond recall, one found Oreo cookies displayed in large, square boxes, and bought them by the pound, in a paper bag. Pickles came in a barrel, and the clerk fished out the ones you wanted. Now you pick the same cookies or pickles off the shelf - attractively packed.

Stepping Up Objections

Members of the Andover Police Department took their protest against stalled collective bargaining to the streets this past week, picketing in front of town hall. The public safety unit was protesting a provision in the contract which stipulates a member may not work overtime for three days after receiving sick leave. There was no agreement between the police and town as of Tuesday morning. There was no work stoppage.

Thanksgiving Service Tonight

West Parish church will be host to the annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Eve Worship service tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The sermon this year, will be delivered by Rev. Donald Myrom of the Faith Lutheran Church and the service will be led by the various members of the Andover Clergy Association. Everyone is invited to attend this service.

Coffee and refreshments will be served afterwards in West Parish's Fellowship Hall.

Order of Worship:

Organ Prelude, Call to Worship, Rev. Everett Bodge, South Church; Processional Hymn, "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come;" Prayer of Invocation, Dr. Otis Maxfield, West Parish; Scripture Reading, Rev. Earl Robinson, Baptist Church; Litany, Rev. Stanley Smith, O.S.A., St. Augustine's; Scripture Reading, Rev. Daniel Wright, South Church; Anthem.

Continuing: Scripture Reading, Rev. Richard Balmforth, Free Church; Hymn "We Gather Together;" Sermon, Rev. Donald Myrom, Faith Lutheran; Pastoral Prayer, Rev. Robert Outman, Christ Church; Organ Offertory; Doxology; Prayer of Dedication, Rev. Edison Pike, Christ Church; Recessional Hymn "Now Thank We All Our God;" Benediction, Rev. David Hollenbeck, Ballard Vale United Church; Organ Postlude.

School Board Meets Wednesday

The Andover School Committee will hold its regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the West Elementary School.

High School Open House Scheduled

Andover High School will hold its fall Open House program on two separate nights. The first one will be held on Thursday, Dec. 5, for families whose last names begin A-L. The second night will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 10, for those whose last names begin M-Z. During the hours of 7 to 9:30 p.m., parents will be able to visit with their child's teachers. The Guidance Department and the Administration will be available throughout the evening.

The first systematic effort to control insects in this country began in about 1865 when Paris green was used to destroy the Colorado potato beetle.
